

Collection of Dolls.
Princess Clementine of Belgium, youngest daughter of Leopold, is credited with having the most wonderful collection of dolls in the world. Among them are specimens from Babylon, bone dolls from Greenland, a wooden one from Peru, a paper doll from India, Greek dolls with wardrobes, even dolls' houses, with furniture and dishes in them.

Crosby's Great Mistake.

William Crosby, for many years a prominent publisher and bookseller in New England, is dead at his home in Roxbury, Mass. His firm, Crosby & Nichols declined to print a volume of poems called "Voices of the Night" by Longfellow. The poet offered the poems with the stipulation that the firm give him a position. For this refusal the firm lost Longfellow's work, which later became famous.

Have used Doan's Kidney pills;
Have proved their worth in many tests.

Here's Hopkinsville testimony.

Mrs. W. C. Davis, 829 West Seventh Street, Hopkinsville, Ky., says:

"Mr. Davis has never had an occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine since he recommended them in the summer of 1903. For years prior to that time he had been an almost constant sufferer from kidney trouble. He had intense pains in his back which extended to his shoulders and annoyed him all day. They prevented him from sleeping during the night. The relief he obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills which he got at L. A. Johnson & Co's. drug store was surprising. They acted differ-ently from any remedy he ever tried and he has never had a recurrence of the trouble since using this valuable remedy four years ago. It speaks pretty strongly for Doan's Kidney Pills that cured him."

The Business Outlook.

The restoration of confidence in the banks, and the free circulation once more of the country's currency, have given a wholly different aspect to the economic conditions from that which was prevalent in November and December. The money stringency stopped the movement of wheat, corn and cotton from the farmers to the markets. It stopped the wheels of factories everywhere. It closed many mines, brought building operations to a standstill, and threw hundreds of thousands of men out of work. It crowded the steerages of east-bound steamers with scores of thousands of workmen whose choice to return with their savings to their native lands until the demand for labor should call them back here again. But the country is fundamentally prosperous, and in most sections there is evident a gradual resumption of activity and a great deal of confidence as respects the future. Quite apart from the transient currency panic, there has set in a widespread process of what is called liquidation. Loans have been called in and credits are undergoing readjustment upon a hard-times basis. There will be a good many business failures yet to come; and for a year, perhaps two years, there will in many lines of business be a comparatively dull showing. It will be a period for the practice of thrift and the homely economic virtues, in order that resources, both private and public, may be used for the best possible results. There will be a very sharp reduction in luxurious expenditures and a corresponding increase in the amount of new capital that can be devoted to business undertakings.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for February.

He Didn't Care.

A boy was slouching along the street with his father's breakfast in a tin can, when another boy came up to him and gave the can a vigorous kick.

"Do you care about me kicking that can?" said the newcomer.

"No, I don't," replied the other boy.

"Do you now?" giving the can another kick.

"No, I don't," answered the latter.

"Do you now?" cried the infuriated young lad, giving the can such a kick that it knocked the bottom out.

"No I don't," again replied he with the can. "My mother borrowed it from yours this morning!"

Was a Chestnut.

They sat at the edge of the wood, gazing dreamily at the reapers toiling in the sunny fields, at the scar-golden grain, and at each other.

"Darling," he cried, "I swear by this great tree whose spreading branches shade us from the heat —by this noble tree I swear that I have never loved before."

The girl smiled faintly.

"You always say such appropriate things, Dick," she murmured. "This is a chestnut tree."

The Call.

At a meeting of the Democratic mittee, in the city of Madisonville, Ky., January 23, 1908, the following call was issued:

It is hereby ordered that a primary election be held in all of the precincts of the several counties composing the Second Congressional District on Saturday, May 9, 1908, for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for Congress in said district to be voted for at the regular mary election shall be held under the provisions of the Kentucky statutes regulating primary elections, between such hours as regular state elections are held.

No candidate in said primary shall be allowed to select as a device the device of the Democratic party.

Each candidate desiring to be voted for at said primary election shall on or before 2 o'clock p. m., March 30th, 1908, file with the chairman of the district committee his written election.

The right to vote at said election shall be limited and restricted to those who affiliate in good faith with the Democratic party and further pledge their support to the nominee of said election, and possess the qualifications prescribed by statute, provided, however, that persons under the age of twenty-one years on the date of said election, but who will have reached said age by the date of the November election, 1908, and who wish to affiliate with the Democratic party and will pledge themselves to support the nominee of said primary election, shall be entitled to vote.

Should there be but one candidate to comply with the requirements of this call, there shall be no primary election held, but the District Committee shall meet upon call of the chairman on April 27, 1908, at 2 o'clock, p. m., at Henderson, Ky., and declare the persons complying with the requirements of this call the nominee of the Democratic party for congress in the Second Congressional District of Kentucky, and the chairman of said committee shall return to him his entrance fee.

The candidate receiving the largest number of legal and qualified votes cast of said election shall be declared the nominee of the Democratic We've found a use for water! Whikt we was a-drinkin' our way across th' Nevady desert in company with th' Press Yonkerists we met up with a cap-goin' ter buy a flock o' b'loons which it will load up with water on th' Pacific be loaded outen th' Misery river an' aloud ter leak back across th' desert ter
